The Institute is pleased to announce a strategic alliance with AMARANTH LIFE SCIENCES PHARMACEUTICAL LLC, a medical food formulation company. The company specializes in formulations built around ethically harvested ovine placenta, colloidal gold, silver, platinum and other natural ingredients, carried by oils such as Sachi Inchi.

Working with the Institute for Health Research's Institutional Review Board (IRB), under its Chairperson, Robert Goodman PhD, the company and its Principle Investigator, Ab Boonswang, MD, the "Medical Manna" formulation will be offered to selected children and adults suffering from autism spectrum disorders as a medical food for the dietary management of their condition, or as a dietary supplement supporting normal structure and function.

The Institute is willing to accept donations to support the clinical trial and expects to publish the clinical trial Report upon completion of the trial in conformity with the IRB approved Clinical Trial Protocol.

Donation tax-receipt on request.
